

Privacy Notice in Accordance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation

Status: September 2019

The purpose of this Privacy Notice is to inform you about the personal data that we may collect about you, how we use it and what legal rights you have regarding your personal data.

1. Who is legally responsible for handling your personal data and who can you contact about this?

In data protection law terminology, this is the “controller”, namely:

Deutsche Bank AG
Taunusanlage 12
60325 Frankfurt am Main
Telefon: 069 910-10000
Fax: 069 910-10001
Email address: brand.portal@db.com

Our internal data protection officer may be contacted at:

Deutsche Bank AG
Data Protection Officer
Taunusanlage 12
60325 Frankfurt am Main
Telephone: (069) 910-10000
Email address: dataprivacy.brandportal@db.com

2. What personal data do we collect about you and where do we get it from?

We process your personal data in the context of registration to the external Brand Portal where it is appropriate and lawful to do so. Relevant personal data may include: title, name, surname, company, department, address, contact details (such as your telephone number and e-mail address) and project details of your work on behalf of Deutsche Bank AG.

3. What do we use your personal data for and on what legal basis is this allowed?

We process the personal data described above in compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the German Federal Data Protection Act (Bundesdatenschutzgesetz – BDSG). The legal bases we rely on to process your personal data are:

a) For the performance of contractual obligations (article 6 (1) (b) GDPR)

The processing of personal data is carried out in order to provide you with access to the Brand Portal of Deutsche Bank in the context of executing our contracts with you.

b) For the purpose of our legitimate interests (article 6 (1) (f) GDPR)

As a bank we process your personal data to fulfil our legitimate interests, namely to ensure the IT security of the bank.

4. Who do we disclose your personal data to?

Within DB, only staff who need access to your data for the purposes described above will have access to it. Similarly, DB's agents and service providers will be given access to your data where necessary for such purposes. We have written contracts in place with such third parties (such as IT vendors) requiring them to comply with our instructions and with data protection obligations.

5. How long will your personal data be stored?

We will process and retain your personal data for as long as necessary for the execution of our contractual or statutory obligations. If the data is no longer required for the performance of our contractual or statutory obligations, it is regularly deleted, unless further processing is necessary for the following purposes:

- Compliance with records retention periods under commercial and tax law. The records retention periods range up to 10 years.
- Preservation of evidence within the scope of statutes of limitations. Under section 195 et seq. of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch – BGB), these limitation periods may be up to 30 years, although the regular period is three years.

6. What rights do you have concerning your personal data?

You may have various legal rights in relation to your personal data, including the right to ask for:

- a copy of your personal data (article 15, GDPR, subject to the limitations in sections 34 and 35, BDSG);
- any inaccuracies or incompleteness in your personal data to be corrected (article 16 GDPR);
- deletion of your personal data (article 17, GDPR, subject to the limitations in sections 34 and 35, BDSG);
- DB to restrict the ways in which it processes your data (article 18, GDPR);
- for your personal data to be transferred to you or another company in a commonly used electronic format (known as the right to data portability: article 20, GDPR);
- DB to stop processing your data in a particular way (article 21, GDPR - see “right to object” below).

You are also entitled to modify or withdraw your consent for the collection, use and disclosure of your personal data (see section 3(b) above), and to lodge a complaint with a data protection regulator about how we handle your personal data (article 77, GDPR, and section 19, BDSG).

Information on your right to object under article 21 of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

You can also object to the processing of your personal data where we do this for the purposes of our legitimate interests (article 18, GDPR). If you lodge an objection, we will no longer process your personal data unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override your rights and interests or else we need to process the information in connection with a legal claim.

There are no formal requirements for lodging an objection; where possible it should be made by telephone to: +49 (069) 910 10000 or e-Mail to dataprivacy.brandportal@db.com
